GENOA: BETWEEN THE MOUNTAINS AND THE SEA

Genoa, one of Italy's most charming and picturesque cities, will offer participants a unique opportunity to combine business with pleasure. A city where elegant boutiques, antique shops and lively street markets guarantee continuous surprises.

Genoa and the Liguria region have so much to discover: nineteenth century neighbourhoods, fishing ports and seaside resorts to the east and west, and towns and villages inland nestling in the foothills of the Alps. It is the perfect destination for those who enjoy the sea and sun, mountain air, fine wines and cuisine.

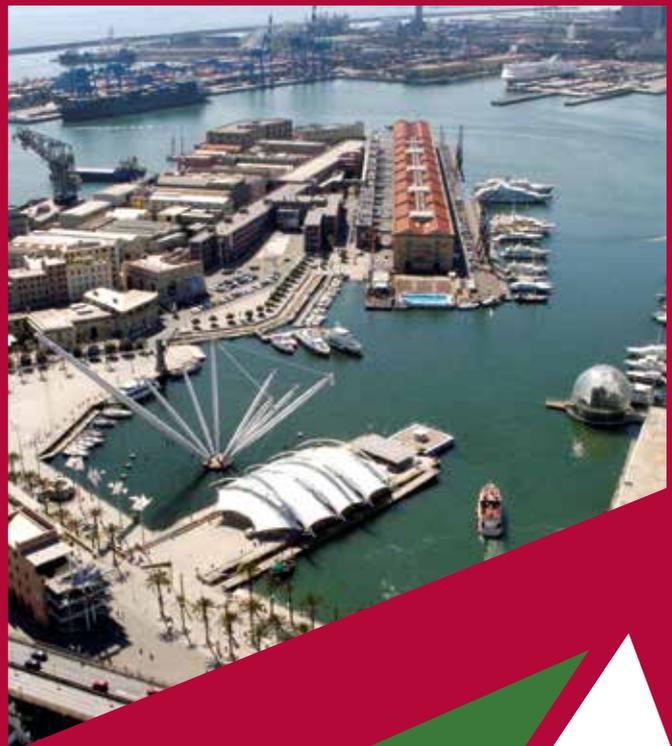

An up-and-coming conference destination, Genoa holds numerous international exhibitions and major fairs including Euroflora and the world renowned Genoa Boat Show. AEGPL is proud and honoured to bring the LPG industry to Genoa in 2014.

A HISTORICAL AND EXCEPTIONAL VENUE: PORTO ANTICO DI GENOVA CONGRESS CENTRE

Few European convention centres can boast such an attractive setting as the old Magazzini del Cotone, or cotton warehouses, situated on the docks in the old port.

This is the heart of Genoa and its medieval quarter, perhaps the liveliest district in town, which was masterfully redeveloped and restored in 1992 by world famous Genoese architect Renzo Piano. The Porto Antico area is the ideal venue for conferences, meetings and other events, all just a few minutes walk from Genoa's historical town centre.

THE 2014 AEGPL CONGRESS

Welcome Remarks by the President of AEGPL,
Ramón de Luis Serrano

IT IS A GREAT HONOUR FOR ME, AS PRESIDENT OF AEGPL, TO WELCOME THE LPG INDUSTRY TO GENOA, ITALY FOR THE 2014 AEGPL CONGRESS.

The theme of this year's Congress is "Today's Successes, Tomorrow's Opportunities". The idea behind this theme is to both highlight where our industry is succeeding and how we can facilitate more success, at the same time as seeing what kinds of opportunities we will have tomorrow. Although LPG is now more than 100 years old, with such a versatile product, there will always be the chance for our product to grow in the energy mix – and at the AEGPL Congress, we will discuss how we, as an industry, can make this happen.

This year, we are very fortunate to be hosted by Assogasliquidi, the Italian LPG Association. The Italian LPG market has long been one of the biggest in Europe, with distributors supplying large volumes of LPG to consumers in both the heating and Autogas sectors. Furthermore, a number of the world's most innovative suppliers of LPG equipment and applications are headquartered in Italy - I therefore welcome this great opportunity to come and hear about their success stories, alongside those of other countries.

This year's conference will cover our core market sectors of energy and transport, with the aim of looking at how we can keep our competitive advantage in the face of growing and varied competition from other sectors. Key to success is of course innovation, which will be the topic of a dedicated session on the second day. This Congress will also be the first LPG event to feature presentations on the LPG sector's role in the distribution of liquefied natural gas (LNG). There is a growing interest in the role of LNG in the heating and transport sectors, and LPG companies both in Europe and on other continents have realised that there are potential synergies. We will therefore be hearing from both experts in the global LNG business as well as some of those companies who are using their experience in LPG to distribute LNG.

The AEGPL exhibition, set across four floors, will feature leading companies from across the globe, with more than 100 booths of equipment and services. The Welcome Reception will again take place in the exhibition, and is a great chance to make new business contacts and renew old ones. On top of this, we will continue to see presentations in the exhibition from some of these companies on their latest offerings and technologies.

Finally, I would like to welcome you on behalf of AEGPL to the beautiful city of Genoa and the region of Liguria. Genoa is one of Europe's most charming cities and a stroll around Genoa's old town and redeveloped marina area is a great way to finish a day of business. For those who have a little time before or after the Congress, the region of Liguria offers stunning views of the Mediterranean and the Italian Alps with some of the most picturesque villages in all of Europe.

I look forward to seeing you on May 14th and 15th at the AEGPL Congress 2014 in Genoa!

Ramón de Luis Serrano
President of AEGPL

THE EUROPEAN LPG ASSOCIATION

Founded in 1968, AEGPL (Association Européenne des Gaz de Pétrole Liquéfiés) is the sole representative of the LPG industry at the European level.

AEGPL is the face and the voice of the LPG industry in all relevant policy and regulatory negotiations instigated by the EU institutions, the European Committee for Standardisation (CEN), and the UN Economic Commission for Europe (UNECE). We represent national LPG associations and companies from all across the Europe, whose expertise and input provides the basis for EU energy and environmental policy and technical regulations. AEGPL also has a unique role in keeping its members informed of any policy or regulatory opportunities or threats that may impact our industry in Europe. AEGPL also promotes the industry's interests through the sharing of knowledge and best practices from all across the sector.

EU ENERGY AND ENVIRONMENT POLICY

AEGPL's Policy Coordination Group, made up of policy experts from among AEGPL staff and AEGPL's members, comprises of taskforces on European Directives and Regulations that have a direct impact on the regulatory environment and profitability of the LPG sector.

TECHNICAL AND HSE POLICY

AEGPL's Technical Coordination Group, consisting of technical experts from across AEGPL's members, is responsible for proposing and steering AEGPL's Technical Working groups. These Working Groups formulate appropriate responses to emerging technical and HSE legislation.

SHARING KNOWLEDGE AND EXPERTISE

As well as promoting LPG at the European level, AEGPL works with its members for their benefit, through collecting and dispersing information, sharing experiences, and supporting members' campaigns and activities at the national level.

CONGRESS SOCIAL EVENTS

THE MEMBERS' DINNER

At Palazzo Ducale

Tuesday, 13 May, 2014. 7:30pm-10:30pm

Open only to AEGPL members and their spouses

**Please note that registered AEGPL member representatives will receive a separate invitation to this dinner*

Genoa's Palazzo Ducale is one of the city's most prestigious symbols. Its construction began in 1298, when Genoa was asserting its economic power throughout the Mediterranean. After a long and important restoration lasting ten years, the Palace has become the beating heart of cultural life in the city. The elegantly decorated Minore Consiglio Hall will welcome the members for dinner.

THE GALA DINNER

At the Acquario di Genova (Genoa Aquarium)

Thursday, 15 May, 2014. 7:30pm-11:00pm

Due to limited numbers, please note that registration to the Gala Dinner will be on a "first come, first served" basis.

Perfectly located in Genoa's splendid old port area, the Aquarium was designed by Renzo Piano for the 1992 Christopher Columbus celebrations. The Aquarium features the greatest variety of eco-systems in Europe, with 70 tanks and hundreds of species, from manatees to penguins, dolphins and sharks. The journey will start with a private visit of the Aquarium, offering visitors the chance to take a trip through the seas of the world. Guests will then be invited to dine in front of the dolphinarium. Seize this opportunity to enjoy a refined dinner with your colleagues and friends at this unique venue!

THE WELCOME RECEPTION

In the Exhibition at the Porto Antico di Genova Congress Centre

Wednesday, 14 May, 2014. 6:00pm-7:30pm

Open to all participants

The Welcome Reception is the perfect place to see the best the LPG industry has to offer in a relaxed atmosphere. Traditionally held in the Exhibition area to bring participants and exhibitors together, the Reception is the perfect opportunity to make new contacts and catch up with old ones.
